RE/MAX Estate Properties

Jason Buck is a lifelong resident of Palos Verdes. He is very proud of this special peninsula and feels that he has found a great job of hosting clients in a magnificent neighborhood. Jason loves the history of the Vanderlip Estate, the exclusive bluffs and coves like Lunada Bay, the diverse climate like Portuguese Bend, and the various cultures that encompass the peninsula. Growing up by the Pt. Vicente lighthouse, Jason learned about the hill roaming through the vacant plains under city hall and wading through the tide pools at the bottom of the cliff. After graduating from PV High in '90, Jason went to USC with a Music Major then changed to International Business and graduated from Colorado University in Boulder. After managing a family business and installing hardwood floors, Jason realized a natural ability of hosting clients in his home town. "It was really easy for me to show visitors the peninsula and entertain them with the numerous attributes and specialties the hill has to offer. Many people have no idea at a PV oasis exists, and I know a lot of the hidden secrets that keep this place special."

Jason Buck has been a Realtor for over 15 years and an expert Realtor in Palos Verdes and surrounding Beach Cities like Manhattan, Hermosa, and Redondo Beach. Los Angeles is incredibly diverse with culture and activities and there is always something to do in the mountains, ocean, or at some of the gorgeous beaches. Jason is the chairperson for the Global Committee with the Palos Verdes Board of Realtors. He has a Certified International Property Specialist Designation and belongs to the International Network Group FIABCI. Jason also likes to encourage the practice of sustainability and conservation as an Eco-Broker. Jason has a PV Specialist designation, and loves telling stories about the history of Palos Verdes. Jason had the luxury of traveling to many countries in Central America and also Europe and China. He was able to perform with a band of musicians with disabilities on the Great Wall in 2006 for World Cultural Exchange. Jason is one of the Top Agents for RE/MAX Estate Properties and excited about the future with my growing network of professionals.
